

SPONSOR OPPORTUNITIES

The College and University Recycling Coalition (CURC) is a membership-based 501(c)3 nonprofit organization working to advance recycling and sustainable materials management at colleges and universities. CURC accomplishes this by providing best practice resources and facilitating networking and technical exchange opportunities among campus-based recycling and sustainability professionals. Led by a board of directors made up of university sustainability program managers, CURC reaches an audience of over 2,500 people from over 1,500 schools across the US and Canada.

WEBINAR SERIES

Since 2009, the CURC Webinar Series has been the go-to source for program managers to learn about best practices and emerging trends at colleges nationwide. The CURC Webinar Series is the go-to source for program managers to learn about best practices and emerging trends at colleges nationwide. The series includes six bi-monthly programs featuring case study and industry expert presentations on topics such as recycling operations, zero waste programs, food organics recovery, and student engagement among others. The webinar programs are free and open to college recycling and sustainability staff, as well as local government and other recycling industry professionals.

WEBINAR TESTIMONIALS

- "This [webinar] helped me to get buy-in from upper management in starting a project or pilot."
- "Thank you for organizing this session and providing experienced, thoughtful speakers."
- "Great presentations. We learned much and have developed a few new ideas on how to advance our sustainability program."

WORKSHOPS & NETWORKING MEET-UPS

CURC organizes workshops and other opportunities for campus recyclers to network to exchange best practices and ideas.

- An annual workshop is held in conjunction with the Association for the Advancement of Sustainability in Higher Education's (AASHE) annual Higher Education Sustainability conference. On average, 80+ college and university representatives participate.
- Regional workshops and networking meet ups can be planned around special themes and geographic location in conjunction with sponsors and partner organizations.
